Manager's Message

Dear Members: _____ by Marlene Morss

Commitment to Community

7th Cooperative Principle

Some of you might know that cooperatives across the globe adhere to the same Seven Cooperative Principles that guide our decisions - from how we run the cooperative, to how we engage with our local communities. Concern for community is the seventh principle and it is one that we value year-round, but during the Spring, I would like to make you more aware of its prominence.

cooperatives who sponsor scholarships for High Plains so that we can award these monies back to our members.

We also attended Future Farmers of America (FFA) banquets to present donations to help support this commendable organization. Like High Plains, FFA is committed to help students so they may achieve leadership, personal growth and successful careers.

Our youth are very important to High Plains Power. They are the future of High Plains Power - they help challenge our assumptions and our perspectives. Their optimism, ingenuity, dedication and enthusiasm should be nurtured, and this can be done through education.

As you will see in this edition of the newsletter fourteen students were awarded with Scholarships sponsored by High Plains Power, Tri-State Generation and Transmission and Basin Electric Power Cooperative. Tri-State and Basin Electric are also
